

PLATO PRESENTATION TO THE TWENTIETH
The soldiers of the gallant Twentieth Kentucky and their numerous friends assembled, accompanied by the Post Band, to receive the beautiful banner of the Twentieth Kentucky at the home of the gallant Colonel. A beautiful pair of shoulder straps were also presented by the ladies of this city to Col. Hanson. The eagles were covered by a strip of blue velvet, in the center of which was a star, the insignia of a Brigadier-General, which they intended to imply that the gallant Colonel merited instead of the eagles.

In the absence of Hamilton Pope, Esq., Mr. R. J. Dupuy presented the flag and shoulder straps in a very eloquent and appropriate speech, advertising in glowing terms to the brilliant career of the gallant regiment and the imperishable fame they had won on the battlefields of their country.

The address was responded to in a handsome manner by the gallant Colonel Bruce, in which he referred to the noble manner in which the boys had performed their duty, and how bravely they braved the elements of battle on all occasions. The gallant Colonel told how many battle-fields are strewn with the graves of the gallant Twentieth. Thanking the ladies, he committed the flag to the keeping of the noble regiment.

Colonel Hanson followed in a very eloquent and well-timed speech, which would have done credit to the best of orators.

The occasion was a happy one, and will long be remembered by those who were present. We regret exceedingly that our limited space precludes the possibility of our giving even a synopsis of the speeches.

TWO ESCAPED PRISONERS CAPTURED
ONE OF QUANTILL'S BAND KILLED.—Capt. Edwards, a detective of this place, succeeded in capturing two of the escaped prisoners of Gen. O. O. Quentill, who recently escaped from Camp Douglas, on Friday last, near Caseyville, and brought them to this city. While Capt. E. was in Caseyville, he learned that Nat. Horton, of Quantill's band, and a notorious desperado, was stopping a few miles distant. He repaired to the place, and after a short search, he acknowledged that he was one of Quantill's band, and refused to surrender. He ran a short distance, and took refuge behind a tree, from which he fired at Captain Edwards, wounding him severely in the shoulder. The Captain then closed upon him, and when within good range, returned the fire, the ball passing through the head of Horton, killing him instantly. His body was delivered by Capt. Edwards to the Coroner's department.

We learn that our young friend, Lieut. Wm. O. Boyle, formerly on the staff of his father, Gen. J. T. Boyle, has been promoted to the Major's rank in the Twentieth Kentucky, organized under Col. Rye. Major Boyle, we understand, has command of a battalion at the post of Harrodsburg.

In justice to Major Boyle, it is proper to state that he has recruited, in this vicinity, within a few weeks past, a battalion for the 11th regiment of Kentucky cavalry, and by virtue of doing this has been commissioned Major. He has already made up three full companies, and has two others in formation. Great credit is due to a young man for his patriotism, and for his energy and industry in accomplishing so much in so short a time.

We are pleased to learn that Col. Thos. Sedgewick, of this city, has been assigned to the command of the 1st brigade, 1st division, 4th army corps. This is a deserved recognition of meritorious services. Col. Sedgewick, with his regiment, the 2d Kentucky, has rendered marked service throughout the war, and his long and faithful list of killed and wounded will testify. The Colonel distinguished himself at Shiloh, Stone River, and more lately in the bloody battle of Chickamauga. We understand that his superior officers have recommended him for a star, and we sincerely trust that such is the case.

Three hundred prisoners arrived in this city a short time since, amongst whom were five of the romantic young ladies who recently decamped from Zanesville, Ohio, to share the perils and hardships of our soldiers on the battle-field. They were discovered immediately upon arriving in this place, and sent back to Camp Douglas, where they doubtless been sent to their parents. They were young, intelligent, and pretty, but already lost to all sense of virtue and conduct becoming ladies.

The boys of our city are at this time amusing themselves with slings, in which they place bullets or other missiles, and throw them indiscriminately about the city. Yesterday a man had his eye put out by one of these slings, and the day before a mirror, valued at $40, was broken in the parlor of one of our citizens, the stone passing through the window. The police are after the young devils, and, if they do not get "served," may succeed in capturing some of them.

We are informed that the curbs at the intersection of First and Jefferson streets, in the branch connecting the Nashville and the Great Northern, will not admit of an engine making the turn. This was not discovered until the road was completely blocked, only remedy now is to run the engine to the curve behind the train, and have another engine on the opposite side to receive it.

Lieutenant M. Walsh, Fifteenth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, arrived in town yesterday with the remains of Sergeant Alexander McDonald, of Captain John S. Canahan's company, who was killed while in the discharge of his duty Saturday night, November 7th, near Gallatin, Tenn. He was a brave soldier, and died as such. His body will be taken to Cincinnati to-day for interment.

It was stated yesterday that Alfred W. Harris, one of our monthly City Assessors, and a member of the Louisville Legion, had died of wounds received in the battle of Chickamauga. We are gratified to learn that the report was erroneous, and that young Harris is but slightly wounded, if wounded at all, but are pleased to learn that he is all probability a prisoner in Richmond.

There is a young lady in Barrens No. 1, about seventeen years of age, very pretty, who has served in the Union army for two years. She was recently mustered out of the service, and is now waiting for five months' pay due her from Uncle Sam.

ROBEY-THIEF ARRESTED.—Officers Hetzel and Barnes arrested a man named George B. Sheridan yesterday for stealing a horse from John Brady. The horse was in possession of the thief when arrested.

The pork-houses in this city and Jeffersonville will be fairly in operation next week. We are informed by our pork-vendors that a very limited number of hogs will be slaughtered this season.

The poor of our city will be pleased to learn that twenty thousand bushels of Potomac corn was received yesterday, and more is coming.

General Negley arrived in this city yesterday, much improved in health. He leaves this morning for the front to join his command.

The "cover of night" could be taken about twelve o'clock, local editors would have a rare assortment of items for their morning's issue.

Charles Juno has been authorized by the military authorities to arrest all negroes in the city found without passes or free papers.

There were sixty-three prisoners in Barrens No. 1 last evening, of which forty-two were sent to their regiments.

THE NASHVILLE PRESS of yesterday is credibly informed that on Monday night a body of some twenty guerrillas, the most of them known to be rebel citizens, entered the town of Madisonville, Tennessee, and robbed the citizens and stores of the place. Among the principal sufferers was Mr. A. F. Prentiss, a merchant of the town. They robbed him of all the money he had about his person, took all his clothes, and stole five hundred dollars' worth of goods from his store. The next day Gen. Williams sent, from Tullahoma, a detachment of men in search of the marauders. None of the robbers were caught, but our sources succeed in capturing some of the horses and arms belonging to them. Some of the stolen property was also recovered. Bands of robbers are said to be continually prowling around Coffee and the adjoining counties.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE—It will be a treat indeed this evening to see Miss Laura Keane in Miss Hardcastle in Goldsmith's exquisite comedy, She Stoops to Conquer, assisted by Mr. Livick as Young Marlow, Mr. Peters as Tony Lumpkin, and Mr. R. J. Dupuy as Mr. Justice. Nature versus Art, written for Miss Keane and depicting an episode in her life, will also be acted. This week will be devoted to some of the old standard comedies, and next week to dramas, which will be produced with the original effects which made her New York Theatre so popular.

WOOD'S THEATRE—That sterling actor Mr. Joseph Proctor took an enthusiastic reception last night, and in melodramatic characters he is almost without a rival in our country. This evening he repeats his wonderful performance in Nick of the Woods. He has several novelties in preparation, though his old admirers will be delighted to see him in the entire range of his role repertoire.

SEAR SOUTH—Miss O. Claiborne, an enthusiastic Sunday school teacher, was sent South Saturday by order of Gen. S. Grant. Her office was abuse of kindness shown her by our military, and the frequent violation of the General's published orders. She was escorted as far as Columbia by a detachment of the 18th Michigan, under command of Sergeant R. Baker.

YESTERDAY was the coldest and most disagreeable day of the season. All consultations free. DR. H. ANDERS & CO., 412 Broadway, New York.

DEAR SUSAN—This is the first spare minute I have had to write you since I left. I must first tell you about my success in shopping. I have a set of furs, after looking through the smaller stores I went to Green & Co., which is the best place for furs, and found so great a variety that I hardly know what to choose. I finally selected a beautiful pair of mink, and it is just what I wish you could see it. 412 dft
